NetworkGuardian™

Integrate hardware, software and services for best-of-breed security

Secure your organization's systems, users and data with a deep level of firewall protection that won't compromise network performance. NetworkGuardian™ wired and wireless security solutions are deployed to our customers, ranging from small and mid-sized businesses, to large enterprise environments. Unleash the power of NetworkGuardian™'s anti-spam technology to block email threats effectively and economically. NetworkGuardian™ has a flexible solution to defend your organization from spam, viruses, phishing and data leaks. Make your internet as efficient as possible and have the ability to monitor and manage your network.

Next-generation firewall security.

A suite of tools, including intrusion prevention, gateway anti-virus, and anti-spyware plus application intelligence and control, offer granular control through application blocking, bandwidth management and more. Additional security and connectivity capabilities such as IPSec VPN, SSL VPN, content filtering, anti-spam and enforced client anti-virus make NetworkGuardian™ a comprehensive and powerful all-in-one security solution.

Lowered complexity and cost.

Along with superior power efficiency, NetworkGuardian™ lowers the total cost of ownership by reducing complexity and the time necessary to configure, deploy and maintain security solutions. Our intuitive IT technicians make it easy to quickly set up and fine-tune network policies, application rules, VPN connections and more.

Wired and wireless security

Leverage both high-speed wireless and industry-leading firewall security in one affordable solution. Manage your wireless network and security from one location. With single pane of glass for wireless monitoring and management. Enforce the same set of security policies over both wired and wireless networks.

Built from the best

NetworkGuardian is built with SonicWALL, Cisco enterprise large business switches, and Solar winds. Together with the security and configuration of network engineers at ABT NetworkGuardian™ provides the backbone for networks of every size, combining secure, scalable, robust performance with an elegant, intuitive management experience.
